Hi Sonja,

Defendants withdrew their pleas yesterday and we argued a motion to suppress instead. That is now under advisement with a status date of 10/12/11. I won't really know until after the judge makes a ruling whether or not we will be having a trial, plea, or even if the case will stand.

I will keep you posted.

Thanks,

Matt

Hi Sonja,

Thanks for checking in. The case is now sitting in our "trial pool" whatever that means. I am almost certain that at least one defendant is going to plead guilty and the other one is 50/50 so I may not need you at all. If anything changes I will let you know.

Thanks,

Matt

Not sure when you'll know when the [REDACTED] case is going to trial, but I wanted to let you know that my Fall River case is still scheduled for tomorrow, though if I am needed it will not be until the afternoon, so if I would need to testify either tomorrow morning or not until Thursday morning. I will email you if I find out I am not needed tomorrow in Fall River.

Wow –

Busy schedule. I will try and give you as much lead time as necessary and keep you on-call until when you are actually needed. I should know more in a day or so – thanks for your willingness to work with our crazy trial schedule.

Matt-

Thanks for letting me know what's going on with the case. I understand the whole trial pool thing and realize how hard it must be on all of you as well. Here's my current scheduled for the next month or so. We sometimes get new summonses on a daily basis, so things may change, but as you know Superior Court does have more pull than a district case.

Hi Sonja,

This case is coming up for trial on 9/20/11 in Hampden Superior Court. I only expect to be placed into the trial pool on that date so no need for you to be present. Please just keep date in mind and let me know if you have dates in the next month or so you know you will not be available, otherwise just consider yourself "on-call" and I will attempt to give you as much advance notice as possible.

Thanks,

Matt Green
